

Speaker 2: You could fill out these census forms they send around all the time and send them in, but I don't think it does any good. I don't know whether to even read them or not. Bet you something when they put that in their budget for money they spent this year so they can get more the following year.

Speaker 1: [inaudible 00:00:58]

Speaker 2: Hm.

Speaker 4: Who do you plan [inaudible 00:01:03]?

Speaker 5: Ultimately, the whole Bowberry [phonetic 00:01:06] thing. It could be very out of studio the governor of works we just had. I don't think there is anything better, than what we got. I mean, we don't like what we got, but I don't think the choice is for there. We need a better-

Speaker 2: The lesser of evils.

Speaker 3: Yeah. He was.

Speaker 1: But we didn't have a prayer of someone with his abilities.

Speaker 5: We really needed the-

Speaker 4: We didn't-

Speaker 5: Yeah, we really didn't, and that was a scary thing.

Speaker 1: Well what scares me, thinking back, is when Wednesday they were saying the budget gonna be six billion dollar deficit, everybody treated them like a, you park a wall, they're modest.

Speaker 5: That's right.

Speaker 1: Well! How smart was that guy really?

Speaker 3: I mean well ...

Speaker 1: He was a clown, really.

Speaker 5: He hid it pretty well.

Speaker 1: He knew finances, obviously.

Speaker 2: So the state government who's to blame? Beyond the voters who voted them in, state government? No one else?

Speaker 5: Well I think the federal government plays into it. Because some of our products [inaudible].
