Man: You could fill out these census forms they send around all the time and send them in, but I don't think it does any good. I don't know whether they even read them or not. It's just something, when they put that in their budget for money they spent this year so they get more the following year.

Man: Right.

Moderator: Who do you blame, [inaudible 00:01:02]?

Woman: Ultimately? The voters. To be very honest with you, the governor's election we just had I don't think there was anything better. We don't like what we've got, but I don't think the choices were there. We need a different choice. [crosstalk]

Woman: Yeah, he was.

Man: But we didn't have [crosstalk].

Woman: We really needed it. Yeah, we really didn't and that was a scary thing.

Man: What scares me, thinking back, when [inaudible 00:01:34] was saying that there was going to be a $6 billion deficit, everybody treated him like, "You're off the wall, from Mars!" Hah! Hah! How smart was that guy really?

Woman: I know.

Man: He was a clown, but...

Woman: Well, he did it pretty rough.

Man: Yeah. He knew about finances obviously.

Moderator: So state government was to blame? Beyond the voters who voted him in, state government, no one else?

Woman: Well, I think the federal government plays into it, because some of our problems [inaudible 00:02:02].

Moderator: Okay.
